Momentum's Internet Outsourcing Helps RealNet Canada

Toronto, Ontario, May 15, 2007 – Momentum Advanced Solutions Inc. (TSX:WWW), "Momentum", a leader in the emerging world of Internet outsourcing, is proud to announce that it has recently served as a key partner in the successful launch of a new web initiative with RealNet Canada Inc.

RealNet Canada Inc. is the leading real estate information services company in Canada. Founded in 1995, RealNet's core information service provides coverage in both the commercial real estate investment and residential development markets.

"RealNet Canada's mission is to help clients make better decisions in real estate," stated George M. Carras, President of RealNet. In January, RealNet released its next generation real estate decision support system to the market after two years of design and development. The new service contains a suite of new advanced capabilities for professionals working with detailed property level data across Canada including strategic stakeholder profiling, sophisticated GIS map searching and analytical reporting tools.

"The real estate industry is entering a new era," notes Mr. Carras, "If you consider the breadth of RealNet's client base and the significant increase in the capabilities that we deliver with this initiative, the potential to create opportunity and increase the efficiency of an entire industry is unprecedented".

Momentum's ongoing role in both the development of the application as well as management of the mission-critical IT infrastructure in their data centre has helped RealNet Canada's clients realize the value of the Informed Advantage™.

"RealNet leveraged the value of outsourcing non-core functions to a partner with expertise in these areas. Having one organization accountable for the reliability, performance and timely delivery of our web services was of great strategic importance to us," states Connie E. Carras, RealNet's executive responsible for Strategy and Operations. "While many organizations market end to end capability, we found Momentum capable of delivering on their promise and offering the flexibility we needed as a partner."

"As a leader in the emerging world of Internet outsourcing, our success is a result of our ability to help organizations manage their entire Internet value chain from strategy and thought leadership, right through to day to day operations out of our Markham based Data Centre," says Sheldon Pollack, CEO of Momentum. "We are pleased to contribute to RealNet Canada's success."
